NT All data taken from The Philadelphia Rare Books & Manuscripts Company catalogue. When Spain declared war on England in 1780, Bernardo de Galvez, the governor of New Orleans, seized the opportunity to recapture Florida, which had been ceded to England by the Treaty of Paris of 1763 (in return for the return of Havana). clearly a case of "Button, button, who's got the button." Galvez was successful and by the 1783 Treaty of Paris, Florida was once again a Spanish possession.
Battlefield mayhem and stately political effusions do not necessarily fit easily into the same thought, but in this energetic epic Rojas y Rocha, the Comisario de Guerra of the Royal Army, continues a rich tradition that includes Ercilla's great epic poem on the conquest of Chile in the 16th-century, La Araucana-the tradition of memorializing war heroics in rhymed stanzas. In 92 stanzas, our muse-inspired soldier recounts the exploits and heroism of the governor and his men.
